

BEREA PUBLISHING CO.
(INCORPORATED)
J. P. FAULKNER, Manager
Entered at the Post Office at Berea, Ky., as second class mail matter.

THE CITIZEN

Devoted to the Interests of the Mountain People

Vol. XII.

Five cents a copy.

BEREA, MADISON COUNTY, KENTUCKY, JUNE 8, 1911

One Dollar a year.

No. 50

WHEREVER YOU GO

this summer you ought to go well dressed. If you start by coming here and go away in any of our

Hart, Schaffner & Marx

Suits, you'll be in style anywhere on earth where well dressed men are.

Here also you will find the best in Furnishings including Stetson and Swann Brand Hats, W. L. Douglas Shoes, Wilson Bros. Shirts, and Arrow Brand Collars. Underwear of all kinds. :: :: :: ::

R. R. COYLE
BEREA, KENTUCKY

Baccalaureate Sunday

An Eventful Day—The Procession—The Sermon—The Governor's White Robed Escort to the Chapel in the Evening.

CHAPEL TOWER

In our last week's issue we promised a great day Sunday, Baccalaureate Day, and it was up to our promises and expectations.

For a good many reasons, most of them personal, we have been inclined to call Baccalaureate Day the greatest and best of commencement week. Somehow its appeal is the deepest and its theme the most stirring. Possibly this is because that of all the days of the week this is the one most completely given up to the spiritual—this is the day on which we try to round out and complete the entire work of the College; try to turn over those who have been our wards to the great Teacher; try to make sure of their spiritual connection.

The day began hot and there was no relief from the heat, but an increasing intensity, it seemed, as long as the sun was above the horizon. But the heat had but little effect upon the enthusiasm and success of the day. The march began at Ladies Hall about 10:30, the grades leading, followed by the departments in their order, the graduates, visitors, Governor Wilson and President Frost bringing up the rear. When the van was in front of the library the ranks divided, the rear led by President Frost and Governor Wilson falling

(Continued on page five)

PLACES WORTH VISITING

Careful arrangements have been made to provide for the comfort and happiness of all today, but in case things go wrong officials are always ready to help. The following persons are the ones to be appealed to:

GUIDES are in charge of Prof. Seiple, Room 7 Lincoln Hall.

USHERRING is in charge of Mr. Cuffee.

POLICE are in charge of Prof. Marsh.

CHAPEL is in charge of Mr. Osborne and Prof. Matheny.

Lincoln Hall.

The gift of Roswell Smith, a large, three story brick building with twenty offices and class rooms as well as rooms for the Literary societies. Heated by steam from the Power house. The main recitation building of the college, Mr. Dinsmore is in general charge of the building.

Carnegie Library.

Given by Andrew Carnegie at a cost of $40,000. Steam heated, and with electric light, contains about 25,000 volumes of carefully selected books, open daily to students for study and research work. Lending magazines and newspapers are kept on file. In the rear wings are temporarily located the offices of the President, Treasurer and Secretary. Miss Corwin is in charge.

Industrial Building.

Is 132 feet long and three stories high. For the present the woman's industries, the laundry and sewing and cooking rooms, and a couple of class rooms are there, as well as the sloyd, and mechanical drawing rooms. The third story is temporarily used as a dormitory for young men.

Woodwork Building.

Equipped with the best modern machinery for working in wood, and has the benches for the carpentry school.

Old Power and Heat Plant.

Contains two 80 horse power boilers, a 65 horse power class "A" Left Hand Houston, Stanwood and Gamble Engine and Bultock dynamos for furnishing light and power for the industrial building and light for the public buildings. The plant also furnishes heat for the principal buildings by means of steam piped to them underground.

New Power Plant.

A brick building with the tallest chimney in this part of the state. Will contain new engines to provide for the increasing needs of the school. Two immense new boilers now there used for heating, in charge of Mr. Dick.

The Booth.

Refreshments of all kinds are on sale there, and you can get cold or hot drinks, fruit, candy and sandwiches. The booth is conducted by the Y. M. C. A. and any profit goes to this excellent work.

Persons bringing lunch may deposit

(Continued on sixth page)

A YEAR AT THE HELM

This is our Commencement number and it recalls the fact that a year ago Mr. Frost was retiring from the editorship and introducing the present editor under the caption, "A New Hand at the Helm," and "the new hand" was publishing his platform.

And something else is recalled vividly—how apprehensive was the "new hand" and how he trembled as he grasped "the Helm," how great was the inclination to repeat the Saul act of "hiding among the stumps."

But now "the hand" is old—a year old, and would, in as much as an effort is made in this issue to review some of the activities of the college during the year, like to recount the successes and failures of The Citizen for the same length of time.

But, just as "the hand" is about to undertake the pleasant task, a thought occurs that stays him. It is this: The activities of the college are reviewed for the reason that they must be reported to be known, but The Citizen is an open book "read and known of all men." The Citizen is a familiar friend at the fireside; the college is a friend at distance. The friend at a distance needs to write and tell of the failures and successes, the fears and the hopes; but the friend at the fireside feels in no such need—the heart and life are known and pen and tongue are superfluous.

So "the hand" that was new a year ago, having read the platform then set forth for his guidance, will content himself by saying that he believes he has "kept the faith," that he thinks The Citizen has been recreant to no trust, false to no true interest and friendship, and unmoved by no vital human need and appeal.

And renewing his vows to the old platform without amendment, with a deep sense of gratitude for the many expressions of confidence and the unvarying helpfulness from the entire Citizen family, and with less of fear but no abatement of caution and determination, "the hand at the helm" takes up the pleasurable task of the new year. His motto for the year is the enlargement of the Citizen family, and a closer and truer bond of union and friendship between all its members.

GUNS TO BE FIRED

Tabernacle Doors Opened Only at These Signals

The exercises in the Tabernacle cannot be interrupted by people going in and coming out at all times. The exercises are divided into four parts, and at the beginning and end of each part there will be a gun fired. At each firing of the gun the Tabernacle doors will be opened for new visitors to enter.

At the opening of the third part there will be two guns, so that all may know that the opening of the last part is at hand, and they must hasten in if they would see the giving of the Bibles and Degrees.

EACH GUN IS AN INVITATION. Come in at those times. Keep quiet in assembly, and you will hear and see things worth while. Be prompt at the beginning morning session, 9 a. m., and evening session 1:30 p. m.

Everybody should sing the Battle Hymn and the farewell piece.

Berea College Commencement, June 7, 1911

ORDER OF EXERCISES

8:00 A. M. AND ALL DAY

Reception of visitors at Printing Office, Lincoln Hall, Library and chief College buildings.

8:30 A. M. BAND MUSIC AND PROCESSION

Starting promptly from Ladies Hall for the Tabernacle.

9:00 A. M. MORNING PROGRAM AT TABERNACLE

Minutes (FIRST GUN) I.

5 Music..... Berea College Band

INVOCATION

VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS

Agriculture

8 Illustrations of the effect of Insects | Burt Johnson
and fungi with a statement of | Gordon Bennett Hammond
the proper treatment for each. | John Gilbert Evans

* The Farmer's Son Adriance Stockholm Baldwin

Carpentry

8 The Construction of a Truss Exhibit by the Carpentry Class

Home Science

4 Home Science in the Public Schools ... Luella Hoskins Maggard

4 Home Decoration Ada May Phillips

* Mary and Martha Annauda Eversole

* The Need of Domestic Art in the Home ... Hannah Jean Harper

* The Profession of Home Making Marion Olive Swain

(SECOND GUN) II.

5 Music..... Berea College Band

NORMAL DEPARTMENT

Three Year Course

* The Cigarette Boy Andrew J. Creech

* Illiteracy, the Cause of Crime Geo. W. Cooper

4 Teaching as a Profession for Women Lelia Cornelius

4 The Fir Tree Instead of the Thorn and the Briar | Mary Eversole

* The Degeneracy of Alcohol John Farmer

4 The Influences that Shape Man's Destiny Thos. C. Frye

4 Ideal Womanhood Etta W. Hudson

* Jane Addams Mary Johns

4 Back to the Home Community Lenoard Meece

* The Need for Good Roads H. W. Short

4 The Source of Happiness Isabella A. Williams

(THIRD GUN) III.

5 Music—Honor to the Soldiers 8th Grade

Four Year Course

4 International Arbitration Chas. B. Anderson

4 Education for the American Farmer Claude Anderson

4 Education for Efficiency Wm. Jesse Baird

* After Graduation What? Bessie Cleo DeBord

* The Nobility of Labor Jerome Eastham

4 Environment Isaac Hacker

4 Difficulties of the Mountain Teacher Chas. Maggard

* Home Science in Public Schools Luella Maggard

4 Our Rural Schools Samuel Mayfield

* The Poet in History Richard Randall

* Undiscovered Diamonds Myrtle Starns

(TWO GUNS) IV.

Music—Selected Ariel Quartette

Continued on page 3

Knowledge is power—and the way to keep up with modern knowledge is to read a good newspaper.

WE INVITE YOUR ATTENTION

To the Following Reasons For You to do Business at This Bank

Because; it is a strong, safe institution.

Because; its Officers and Directors are among the safest and most conservative business men in this community.

Because; this bank studies the needs of its customers and properly takes care of them, whether their business is large or small.

Because; systematic saving pays. A deposit account encourages saving. This bank receives deposits from $1.00, up.

Because; its dealings with ALL CUSTOMERS ARE ALWAYS CONFIDENTIAL, and it is always ready to assist and advise.

As a good business man and leading citizen of this section, we believe you will appreciate the thorough equipment of this bank, and the experience of its officers, and on this basis we solicit your business, believing that WE CAN HANDLE IT TO YOUR ENTIRE SATISFACTION.

Call on us whenever you are in town and let us serve you in any way and at any time.

Berea Bank & Trust Co.

OFFICERS
A. Isaacs, Pres. J. W. Stephens, Vice-Pres. John F. Dean, Cashier

ENTRANCE TO THE CAMPUS

The College Year

Review of the Work in Some of the Departments—Prospects for the Coming Year.

COLLEGE DEPARTMENT

The closing year has been a very successful one for the College department.

The enrollment of students has been larger than usual and the work done has been of a high order.

President Frost has been in Berea most of the year and this has been a benefit that the college has not enjoyed for some time. The increased endowment will leave the President more nearly free from lead-

ship in the development of the college in the future.

The strengthening of the school system generally through Kentucky and the law providing for High Schools in the counties has increased the interest in the longer course and promises a rapid growth for this department in the future. Changes in the

The Citizen

A family newspaper for all that is right true and interesting.

Published every Thursday at Berea, Ky.

BEREA PUBLISHING CO.

(Incorporated)

J. P. Faulkner, Editor and Manager.

Subscription Rates

One year	$1.00
Six Months	.50
Three Months	.25

Send money by Post-office or Express Money Order, Draft, Registered Letter, or one and two cent stamp.

The date after your name on label shows when date your subscription is paid. If it is not changed within three weeks after renewal notify us.

Missing numbers will be gladly supplied if we are notified.

Price remains cheap, with new subscriptions and prompt renewals. Send for Premium List.

Liberal terms given to any one who obtains new subscriptions for us. Any one sending four yearly subscriptions can receive The Citizen free for himself for one year.

Advertising rates on application.

MEMBER OF

KENTUCKY PRESS ASSOCIATION.

Dr. Willey says there is poison in striped candy. Come to think of it, that is the kind grandfather used to buy for us.

One Texas ranch contains more than a million acres. Wonder if the owner would be willing to trade it for Rhode Island?

Why is that a man can sit all day fishing without getting a nibble when he gets fidgets if he has to sit fifteen minutes in church?

What is your first thought upon awakening in the morning? asks an exchange. That we'll throw the alarm clock out of the window.

An English baronet is working as a janitor in New York. Probably he was so autocratic that they couldn't stand him any longer at home.

A French aviator announces that he will fly up Broadway in New York. Probably the quietest means of getting away from Wall street.

A taxicab concern has gone broke in Chicago because its customers won't pay their bills. Great is Chicago! It can bluff even a taxicab chauffeur.

Newspaper report the death of a Chicago man in a bathtub. This should be a warning to other Chicago men not to get into strange places.

The pawn's bill, which permits a man to borrow money on his overcoat and wear the garment, too, makes the lender a full partner of the tailor.

Some of the ladies in Boston are wearing cards reading: "Please do not kiss me." We dislike to hazard a guess why the Boston ladies don't wear them.

The graduates of 1911 are now at work in their rooms between games putting on paper the solutions of some of the most perplexing problems of our civilization.

Another professor has proved that it is possible to exist on one 12-cent meal a day. While it may be possible the professor is thus missing a lot of material satisfaction.

A California miner, arrested for celebrating too hilariously, declared that his hilarity was due to a spider bite. We look for a sudden increase in the popularity of the spider.

A Brooklyn woman has been awarded a judgment of six cents against a man who stole a kiss from her. Which may cause her to revise her opinion of bargain-counter prices.

A Kansas man wrote to his congressman suggesting that he would accept postage stamps in lieu of government garden seeds. Not so unreasonable after all. Seeds cost money.

We are told that the energy of Americans is due to good food. Ah, yes! There is an enormous amount of strength in some of the eggs we meet—to say nothing of the butter.

Wu Ting Fang said he would come back to the United States in 150 years, but it looks now as if he would come back this year. It is said he has been reappointed minister to the United States.

The Illinois judge who has issued an injunction against the braying of a mule at night evidently overlooks the fact that a mule is a stubborn animal. We have no doubt that the mule will kick.

Only two per cent of the co-eds in the University of Chicago declare their desire to wed; but it is probable that a large part of the 58 per cent prefer not to declare that desire before they are asked.

There are so many peers and peeresses in England that it is feared they cannot all crowd into Westminster Abbey on the occasion of the coronation. Why not have an overflow meeting? There are plenty of Americans who would be glad to pay well for the privilege of attending it.

PROGRAM FOR NEWSPAPER MEN

Well-Known Kentucky Writers Will Deliver Addresses

MEETING WILL LAST FOUR DAYS

Matters of General and Special Interest to Members of the Fourth Estate Will Be Discussed and Experiences Related—Cerulean Springs the Place.

Cadiz.—The program committee, composed of Tom Underwood, Hopkinsville, New Era; Charles M. Meacham, Hopkinsville Kentuckian, and John S. Lawrence, Cadiz Record, to arrange the program for the coming meeting of the Kentucky Press Association at Cerulean Springs, June 19-23, completed its program as follows:

MONDAY EVENING.

8:30—Informal reception.

TUESDAY MORNING.

9:15—Meeting called to order.

Opened with prayer.

9:30—Welcome address, Denny P. Smith, Cadiz.

10:—Response, Tim Needham, Winchester Democrat.

Roll call.

Reading of minutes of mid-winter meeting, etc.

President's address, A. D. Miller, Richmond Climax.

Secretary's report, Sheldon M. Sawyer, Stanford Journal.

Applications for membership.

Annual poem, E. A. Jones, poet laureate, Louisville Times.

General business.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

1:20—Call to order.

1:30—"What the Kentucky Press Association Has Done for Kentucky Newspapers," Harry McCarty, Nicholasville Journal.

2—"The Country Weekly," L. W. Gaines, Trenton Progress.

2:30—"How I Found Out So Much," George H. Peter, Louisville Herald.

3—Round Table, "Getting Advertising," conducted by George Sorenson.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.

9:15—Call to order.

9:20—Report of executive committee on new applications for membership.

9:30—"What the Press Has Done and May Do for Better Roads," Harry A. Sonnenschein, Elizabethtown News.

10—"The Newspaper Woman," Miss Goldie Perry, Winchester Sun-Sentinel.

10:30—"Old Times and New," J. Stoddard Johnson, Louisville.

11—Round Table, "The Job Department," J. C. Alcock, Jefferson County Journal.

12—"What Is Your First Thought Upon Awakening in the Morning?" asks an exchange. That we'll throw the alarm clock out of the window.

13—"Call to order.

14—"What the Kentucky Press Association Has Done for Kentucky Newspapers," Harry McCarty, Nicholasville Journal.

15—"How I Found Out So Much," George H. Peter, Louisville Herald.

16—Round Table, "Getting Advertising," conducted by George Sorenson.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

1:20—Call to order.

1:30—"Where Is Cerulean?" W. P. Walton, Lexington Herald.

2—"Practical Suggestions," Urey Woodson, Owensboro Messenger.

2:30—Round Table, "Patent Inside vs. All Home Print," conducted by Dr. R. Forbes, Princeton Leader.

3:30—"Businesses meeting Eighth District Publishers' League.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

8:30—Call to order.

8:45—"Dolings of a Daily," Ed O. Leigh, Rowling Green Messenger.

9:45—"Starting a Paper," Miss Alice C. Cereulian, Cerulean.

10:15—"What Is News and What Is Advertising," W. H. Jones, Glasgow Republican.

11—"What Is Your First Thought Upon Awakening in the Morning?" asks an exchange. That we'll throw the alarm clock out of the window.

12—"Call to order.

13—"What the Kentucky Press Association Has Done for Kentucky Newspapers," Harry McCarty, Nicholasville Journal.

14—"How I Found Out So Much," George H. Peter, Louisville Herald.

15—Round Table, "Getting Advertising," conducted by George Sorenson.

THURSDAY MORNING.

9:15—Call to order.

9:20—"Dolings of a Daily," Ed O. Leigh, Rowling Green Messenger.

9:45—"Starting a Paper," Miss Alice C. Cereulian, Cerulean.

10:15—"Some Benefits Derived from District Leagues," James H. Stearns, Nicholasville News.

10:45—"Relations Between City Daily and County Weekly," Bradish Platt, Louisville Courier-Journal.

11:15—"What Is News and What Is Advertising," W. H. Jones, Glasgow Republican.

12—"What Is Your First Thought Upon Awakening in the Morning?" asks an exchange. That we'll throw the alarm clock out of the window.

13—"Call to order.

14—"What the Kentucky Press Association Has Done for Kentucky Newspapers," Harry McCarty, Nicholasville Journal.

15—"How I Found Out So Much," George H. Peter, Louisville Herald.

16—Round Table, "Getting Advertising," conducted by George Sorenson.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

1:15—Unfinished business.

3—Baseball game between Eastern Kentucky (composed of the last six congressional districts), President A. D. Miller, Richmond Climax, captain, and Western Kentucky (composed of first five districts), ex-President Tom Underwood, Hopkinsville New Era, captain. Umpires: William Remington, Paria Democrat, and Charles N. Meacham, Hopkinville Kentuckian.

FRIDAY MORNING.

9—Election of officers.

10—Song, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," by the entire meeting, led by J. R. Lennon, Mayfield Messenger.

11—"What Is News and What Is Advertising," W. H. Jones, Glasgow Republican.

12—"What Is Your First Thought Upon Awakening in the Morning?" asks an exchange. That we'll throw the alarm clock out of the window.

13—"Call to order.

14—"What the Kentucky Press Association Has Done for Kentucky Newspapers," Harry McCarty, Nicholasville Journal.

15—"How I Found Out So Much," George H. Peter, Louisville Herald.

16—Round Table, "Getting Advertising," conducted by George Sorenson.

FRIDAY NIGHT.

8:30—Call to order.

8:45—"Dolings of a Daily," Ed O. Leigh, Rowling Green Messenger.

9:45—"Starting a Paper," Miss Alice C. Cereulian, Cerulean.

10:15—"Some Benefits Derived from District Leagues," James H. Stearns, Nicholasville News.

10:45—"Relations Between City Daily and County Weekly," Bradish Platt, Louisville Courier-Journal.

11:15—"What Is News and What Is Advertising," W. H. Jones, Glasgow Republican.

12—"What Is Your First Thought Upon Awakening in the Morning?" asks an exchange. That we'll throw the alarm clock out of the window.

13—"Call to order.

14—"What the Kentucky Press Association Has Done for Kentucky Newspapers," Harry McCarty, Nicholasville Journal.

15—"How I Found Out So Much," George H. Peter, Louisville Herald.

16—Round Table, "Getting Advertising," conducted by George Sorenson.

SATURDAY MORNING.

9:15—Call to order.

9:20—"Dolings of a Daily," Ed O. Leigh, Rowling Green Messenger.

9:45—"Starting a Paper," Miss Alice C. Cereulian, Cerulean.

10:15—"Some Benefits Derived from District Leagues," James H. Stearns, Nicholasville News.

10:45—"Relations Between City Daily and County Weekly," Bradish Platt, Louisville Courier-Journal.

11:15—"What Is News and What Is Advertising," W. H. Jones, Glasgow Republican.

12—"What Is Your First Thought Upon Awakening in the Morning?" asks an exchange. That we'll throw the alarm clock out of the window.

13—"Call to order.

14—"What the Kentucky Press Association Has Done for Kentucky Newspapers," Harry McCarty, Nicholasville Journal.

15—"How I Found Out So Much," George H. Peter, Louisville Herald.

16—Round Table, "Getting Advertising," conducted by George Sorenson.

SUNDAY MORNING.

9:15—Call to order.

9:20—"Dolings of a Daily," Ed O. Leigh, Rowling Green Messenger.

9:45—"Starting a Paper," Miss Alice

CLEARANCE SALE

June 14th to 28th.

PRICES REDUCED TO WHOLESALE COST

Five Handsome premiums given away to the persons returning the largest amount of coupons.

1st Premium - - - A Silk Underskirt 3rd Premium - - - A Nice Umbrella
2nd " A Pair Queen Quality Slippers 4th " A Pair Lace Curtains
5th Premium - - - A Velvet Hand-bag

If you do not want to enter the contest give your coupons to a friend.

We Want Your Trade

RICHMOND ST.

Mrs. S. R. Baker

BEREA, KY.

Pres't Frost's Sermon to the Graduates

In the Chapel, Sunday, June 4, on the Text,
"THY KINGDOM COME."

Contrast Between Force and Influence; Wealth and Virtue.—Sevenfold Definition of the Kingdom.

Have you ever considered the difference between force and influence? It is well illustrated in the quieting of a tumult. The streets are filled with a mob—the many-headed monster. Workmen, boys and women have been transformed into maniacs and rush forward inciting one another toward some deed of violence and vengeance. Peaceful citizens retire to their houses, bolt the doors and close the shutters.

And then this many-headed monster, the mob, meets force. There is a line of soldiers. At the sharp command a hundred rifles are leveled at the rioters. Those in the front of the mob shrink back but are pushed forward by the headless ones in the rear. "Fire!" says the commander, and with the explosion come cries of rage and pain. With a great effort the rioters in front turn and press backward. Those in the rear give way. The street is cleared and left vacant and bloody. That is force.

But the same mob might be met by persuasion and influence. Before them stands the form of a venerable woman, unprotected and alone. She raises her hand and those in front say "Hush" to those behind. As her words reach farther and farther through the crowd angry faces are smoothed, insane eyes recover the light of reason, the victims of wrath and passion are changed again into their proper character as citizens and neighbors. That is influence.

Force destroys; influence transforms. And to be transformed is the most glorious capacity of men and women.

Have you considered the difference between wealth and virtue? Some twenty years ago I visited Jerusalem, the City of David. It had been a desert and then the stronghold of robbers and he made it the capital of a foremost nation.

David was a man of wealth and virtue. Doubtless by the people of his time he was most thought of as a man of wealth. They talked about his palace of cedar beams, his tower and wall of great stone, and the gardens and pools which marked his riches. But the moment David died his palace became old-fashioned and his successor desired to have and extend the walls and towers which he had built. A little later came fire and destruction. What had been palaces and bulwarks was a mere heap of rubbish on which others were to build.

But David's virtue has not suffered at the hand of time. The story of the courageous boy who faced the lion and the bear and the giant is as fresh as ever. The noble warrior who stood above his sleeping enemy and forebore to do him injury because he was the Lord's Anointed is still a tale of honor for all men.

President Wm. Goodell Frost.

Such is the contrast between wealth and virtue. Both are good but one is perishable and the other immortal. All wealth might be symbolized in a palace or a tower. It is gradually brought to perfection by the exertions of some able man; but the very moment that it is completed it begins to decay. The very hour that it is occupied it begins to grow old-fashioned. Destruction is written upon it from turret to foundation stones. It is only a matter of years and that which was the desire and admiration of a million hearts is fallen back into a heap and ruin.

But virtue and character are like flowers which have seeds in them. A little dandelion is infinitely more wonderful than a marble monument. It opens its cup of gold, receives the sunlight, cheers the passer-by, and when its brief day is over the cup of gold closes up about a little seed pod; and to each of those seeds God has given wings. The wind carries them and wherever they touch the earth they strike root and there is another flower, until the world is decorated by the offspring of one frail blossom.

Now the kingdoms of this world are kingdoms of force and wealth. The kingdom of God is a kingdom of influence and virtue.

"Thy kingdom come." It must be that Jesus knew that the people to whom he taught this prayer could not, at the time, understand it. And it is a question whether now, after twenty centuries of Christian teaching, we all of us know what we are saying when we use these oft-repeated words, "Thy kingdom come."

The Jews for many years had been anticipating a king. They had been looking for a son of David who should set up a reign more great and more glorious than any which the world had known. But their desires for this seem to have been wholly selfish. The chief priest desired to have the ritual of the Jews extended, not that men might be more righteous and happy but in order that he might have a larger income, a finer palace, a greater reputation as the head of a victorious nation. The business men of Jerusalem prayed for the coming of the kingdom not in order that the poor might be relieved and the oppressed delivered but in order that there might be a rise in the price of corner lots in the city of Jerusalem. The young men of the city spoke often of their desire for that kingdom which would conquer the world, but their desire did not grow out of the wish to benefit heathen nations but because they wished to be centurions and generals in the conquering army. We see how easy it is for people to desire the kingdom of God selfishly.

And they conceived this kingdom in a low crude manner. They could not think of or believe in the value of ideas and influence and righteousness. Their highest conception of the kingdom of God was really the kingdom of Solomon. They could think of nothing better than that the kingdom of Solomon, with its prosperity, magnificence and military power should be restored and made perpetual. If Jesus Christ could have promised that, they would never have crucified him.

The task of Jesus Christ, therefore, was to introduce a new ideal—to teach men how to conceive of something infinitely better than the glory of Solomon. He began very slowly and he made very little progress in his lifetime. In the last day of his trial he was obliged to say plainly to the Roman governor, "My kingdom is not of this world," and those who heard him, Jews and Romans and many of his long-time fol-

ORDER OF EXERCISES

(Continued from First Page)

COLLEGIATE DEPARTMENT

- 4 The Battle of King's Mountain Martha E. Sprong
- 4 Beauty Lies in Lookers' Eyes Fern M. Sinkey
- 4 Negro Rights Tracy Emerson Tuthill
- 4 The Journey of Life Marie C. Babcock
- 4 Farming with Foresight Jonah F. Doleh
- 4 Systematizing One's Work Viola F. Click
- 4 The Need of a New Party Howard H. Gamble
- 4 In the Name of Charity Elizabeth Marsh
- 4 Public Opinion George W. Clark
- * The Field of Industrial Education Charles Bradley Lindsley
- 4 Music—Soliher's Chorus College Glee Club

11:45 Presentation of Degrees and Prize Bibles.

Benediction.

AFTERNOON PROGRAM

1:30 P. M. AT TABERNACLE

- Music Berea College Band
Address A. Z. Conrad, D. D. Boston

Music—Battle Hymn of the Republic Quartette and Audience

Adresses by: Rev. Herbert S. Johnson, Boston
And Others

Music—God Be With You Whole Audience

Benediction

7:30 Night Program, at Chapel

- Faculty Reception 7:00 to 8:30 p. m.
Farewell Prayer and Praise Meeting 8:00 to 8:30 p. m.

*Excused from delivering address

Battle Hymn of the Republic.

JULIA WARD HOWE. Melody: "JOHN BROWN'S BODY."

1. Mine eyes have seen the glo - ry of the com - ing of the Lord; He is
2. I have seen Him in the watch-fires of a hun-dred cir-cling camps; They have
3. I have read a fier - y ges - pel, writ in burnished rows of steel; "As ye
4. He has sounded forth the trumpet that shall nev - er call re - treat; He is
5. In the bean - ty ol the hil - lies, Christ was born a-cross the sea, With a tramping out the vintage where the grapes of wrath are stored; He hath loosed the build-ed Him an al - ter in the ev - ning dews and damp; I can read His deal with my con - tem - ners, so with you my grace shall deal; "Let the Her - o, silt-ing out the hearts of men be - fore His judgment seat; O, be swift, my glo - ry in His bosom that trans - fig - ures you and me; As He died to late - lit lightning of His ter - ri - ble swift sword, His truth is marching on.

righteonsen - tence by the dim and flar - ing lamps, His day is marching on.
born of woman, crush the serpent with His heel, Since God is marching on.
son, to answer Him be - ju - bi - lant my feet! Our God is marching on.
make men ho - ly, let us die to make men free, While God is marching on.

FINE

Glo - ryl glo - ry hal - le - lu - jah! Glo - ryl glo - ry hal - le - lu - jah!
Glo - rol glo - ry hal - le - lu - jah! D. S. 2d time.

*The words are used by permission of Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

lowers, said, "If his kingdom is not of this world then it is nothing."

It is impossible precisely to define the Kingdom of God but we can say a few things about it.

In the first place this kingdom exists in the present time. It does not mean a worldly kingdom to overthrow the Romans as the Jews thought, and it does not refer only to the Paradise which awaits us beyond the grave.

John, the Baptist, preached, saying, "The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand." What was at hand? Not a rebellion against Rome; not death and Paradise. There was at hand Jesus Christ with his new idea. They were the Kingdom.

Secondly, the Kingdom of God is in both worlds. It takes for granted that Heaven is a state where God's will is done. It looks forward to the banquet when "many shall come from the East and from the West and shall sit down with Abraham and Isaac and Jacob." This idea that the Kingdom of God extends through this world and the next is very important. God rules here and there. Death is only an incident. This means present salvation.

(Continued on page six)

"THE FURNITURE MAN"

Has just now on display the largest, nicest and most complete stock yet shown in this county and the prices are the lowest ever.

THE RUG CARPET AND MATTING STOCK is also large and complete and the price is down, down, down.

9x12 Brussels. $8.50 to $15.00. 9x12 Axminsters. $15.00 up.
9x12 Wilton Velvets. $20.00 each.

FOSTER STOVES AND RANGES

Are still the best on earth. They are guaranteed to give full satisfaction in every detail or your money back.
Stoves. $10.00 to $20.00 each. Ranges. $20.00 to $40.00 each.

ANOTHER CAR OF BUGGIES JUST IN

Old Hickories and Houghtons a class to themselves. If you want a cheap buggy I have it in the leather top and steel tire for $50.00, or leather top and rubber tire for $60.00. If you want a good one I have them from $75.00 to $140.00. I can please you in a buggy, surrey or cart.

ANTHONY AMERICAN WIRE FENCE

I sell and carry in stock a full line of Anthony Wire Fence. The most perfect tie, heaviest wire and most expensive to produce of any brand the American Wire and Steel Co. puts out, yet the price at which I sell it is as low as their other grades.

A full supply of Wall Paper, Refrigerators, Oil Stoves, Ice Cream Freezers, Lawn Mowers and dozens of other articles. Investigation will prove to you that I sell better goods for less money than others.

BY THE WAY if you want an OLIVER CULTIVATOR I have a few of them for sale.

R. H. Chrisman Phone 26 Berea, Ky.

AT THE CANFIELD STAND

If you want to buy from the very best selected stock of

Fancy and Staple Groceries

Let us have your order.

We also carry an up-to-date line of Confectionery, Fruits and Fresh Vegetables, and at prices to suit the times.

We shall be pleased at any time to show you through our stock and will take the best care of your orders, giving you prompt attention and courteous treatment. We do not ask you to take our word but give us a trial.

Call phone No. 108 or when you have an opportunity come in and see us; we are on Main Street, next door to the Post-office, Berea, Ky.

W. I. DOOLEY

When You Buy Your Oxfords
Get Comfort
Get Style
—Get Both
BUY RED CROSS

W. B. CORSET STEELS

Guaranteed not to rust.

This latest W. B. accomplishment again emphasizes the superiority of the W. B. product.

E. F. COYLE
You pay less

or get more

Berea and Vicinity.

GATHERED FROM A VARIETY OF SOURCES

DR. BEST,

DENTIST

CITY PHONE 153

OFFICE OVER RACKET STORE

DAN H. BRECK
Fire, Life and Accident
Insurance

Phone 505 Richmond, Ky.

L. & N. TIME TABLE

Knoxville 6:30 a. m. 11:00 p. m.

BEREA 1:20 p. m. 2:57 a. m.

Cincinnati 6:10 p. m. 7:45 a. m.

South Bound Local

Cincinnati 6:40 a. m. 8:25 p. m.

BEREA 11:50 a. m. 12:29 p. m.

Knoxville 7:00 p. m. 5:50 a. m.

Express Trains

Stop to take on and let off passengers from beyond Cincinnati or from Atlanta and beyond.

South Bound

Cincinnati 8:15 a. m.

BEREA 11:44 a. m.

North Bound

BEREA 4:56 p. m.

Cincinnati 8:36 p. m.

Mr. Gilbert Combs, a former Berea student but now in the Theological Dept. of Vanderbilt University, won the founder's medal in the annual oratorical contest in that institution last Saturday.

Misses Nina and Bertha King spent Saturday with friends at Paint Lick. Charlie Reynolds of Livington was in town last week.

Miss Ora Flanery, a student of Eastern Kentucky State Normal, visited some of her school friends here last Monday.

Prof. and Mrs. Rumold delightedly entertained the class in Physics at their home Friday during vespers hour.

About sixty Utile Dulce girls, both present and former members, met Friday evening in East Parlor of Ladies Hall for their love feast. The room was tastefully decorated with flowers, banners, and the society colors, purple and gold.

Miss Elizabeth Marsh with her efficient manner and ready wit presided as toastmistress of the evening. Toasts were responded to by Misses May Harrison, Ethel McBroom, Marie Babcock and Margaret Shumaker and prophesy by Delphine Dunker.

Mr. Dwight Willett is enjoying a visit from his sister this week.

Miss Ruth Putnam who has been a teacher in Sue Bennett School is now at home with her mother.

Mr. Brandenburg of Beattyville with his family has moved to Berea. Mrs. Tom Logsdon and Mrs. W. C. Haley were visiting friends in Richmond last week.

Miss Lou Phillips of Wilder is visiting Miss Ella Adams this week.

Miss Sarah Ely is at home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Caulfield drove from their home in Ohio, in an automobile to visit their son, C. M. Caulfield, during commencement.

Miss Rhoda Robinson is sick with typhoid fever.

Miss Kate Coddington is visiting this week at the home of her brother, Mr. Bert Coddington, on Center Street.

Mildred Turner who finished the Business Course last year and has a good position in Cleveland, O., is visiting with friends in Berea.

:: Very ::
Remarkable
:: Values ::

in
SHOES, CLOTHING
LADIES' AND GENTS'
::: FURNISHINGS :::

Don't fail to call and see the high class goods at such reasonable prices.

IN BRANNAMAN HOUSE
Terms, Cash Only.

J. M. COYLE

R. H. CHRISMAN

Funeral Director and Embalmer

A Complete Line of Modern Funeral Supplies.
SPECIAL SERVICE DAY OR NIGHT.

Day Phone 26

Night 46

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Edwards entertained the Foundation School faculty, Wednesday evening, with a picnic supper in the VanWinkle Grove. The wives of the teachers and several student supply-teachers also were present. After supper was over, all enjoyed a merry hour playing just like school children.

Miss Ethel Flanery and Miss Nina Ogg are visiting friends in town this week.

Miss Margaret Todd who has been attending School at The Misses Ely School in Connecticut returned, Saturday.

Everything for ladies and children, Coyle's Dry Goods Store.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. VanWinkle of Mt. Vernon were visiting in Berea last week.

Mr. John Edmund, a former student from Winchester, is here for Commencement.

The largest stock of dry goods, notions, ladies and children's shoes in the County at Coyle's Dry Goods Store.

Mr. C. B. Russell, of Harvey, Ill., a sister of Miss Helen Kueckel, together with her three children, is spending a few weeks in Berea, with her aunt, Mrs. L. V. Dodge.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hook and family drove to Narrow Gap, Sunday afternoon, and attended the excellent service there. They were accompanied by Department Commander C. C. Degman and Mrs. Degman of Springdale, and Miss Anna Williams of Mason County.

Mr. John Fugitt and family of Brodhead, arrived in Berea, Monday, called by the death of Mrs. Fugitt's father, Mr. P. J. Pauley.

The pleasant out-door meetings of the Y. P. S. C. E. are to begin again next Sunday evening if the weather permits. The place, in front of Lincoln Hall, and beginning at 6:30 p. m.

Miss Jones, who has been for eleven years a missionary in Burma, will tell of her work. A cordial welcome is extended to everybody.

News from private sources comes from Hazard to the effect that a fire starting shortly after midnight last Friday destroyed the court house, jail and old clerk's office. Most of the court records are said to have been saved. The origin of the fire is not known.

Buy your groceries at Dooley's, next to the Post Office. Read ad. on third page.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Worthington, the Misses M. Myaskens and Tracy of Anville, Ky., and Miss M. Ziemer of McKee are visiting in Berea this week.

WANTED: Old hats and old shoes for the next 30 days at Welch's New Dry Goods and Gents' Furnishings Department.

GRADUATING And WEDDING PRESENTS

in Gold, Gold-filled and Sterling Silver.

Birth Stone Rings and Jewelry.

The Racket Store
ENGRAVING FREE

Go'way Bags

TRUNKS and SUITCASES of all styles, shapes and prices.

GO HOME SHINING IN AND OUT

WELCH'S

PALACE MEAT MARKET

Fresh and cured meats and lard. Call for what you want, and get what you call for. Highest market price paid for butter, eggs and chickens.

Pure home rendered lard 50lb. cans 10c per lb. smaller lots 12c

FRESH FISH EVERY THURSDAY

Kidd Building, Corner Main and Richmond Streets, Berea, Ky.

U. B. ROBERTS, Prop.

Hot Weather Wearing Apparel

AT VERY REASONABLE PRICES

AT RHODUS & HAYES

MAIN ST. THE QUALITY STORE

BEREA, KY.

Men's Two-piece Suits

Men's Straw Hats

Men's Low Shoes

Men's Summer Coats

Men's White Vests

Men's Underwear

Women's and Children's Summer Skirts

Women's and Children's Hot Weather Hats

Women's and Children's Low Shoes and Sandals

Women's and Children's Light Waists

Women's and Children's Black and Fancy Parasols

Women's and Children's Summer Underwear

COME AND BUY FROM US AND YOU WILL GET THE BEST.

A slight blaze which might have resulted in a destructive fire had it not been discovered at once, occurred, Monday night, in the rear of the Bucket Store on Main Street. As it was, only a coal house used for storing boxes was destroyed. Another fire, as uncontrollable as this and much more destructive, destroyed a stable on Jackson Street, Saturday night.

So far, it has been impossible to discover the origin in either case, just as it was of the one that destroyed the block of buildings on Main Street some weeks ago.

A memorial service for Prof. Ellis who died a week ago in Berea was held in connection with the commencement exercises of Tabor College, Iowa, last Tuesday afternoon. Prof. Ellis was President of Tabor before coming to Berea.

Mr. Jesse Baird has accepted a position with the Anti-Tuberculosis Association of the State for next year. He will travel with the exhibit car which the Association is equipping for the state work.

Mr. James Lumsford, an old soldier, died at his residence in Berea, Monday morning.

Mr. J. H. Clarkson of Slidell, Ky., has bought out the Isaacs' hardware store in Berea.

EARLY-HOLDER

A very pretty and happy wedding took place in Berea, Thursday afternoon, the first day of the month at 3:00 o'clock, when Miss Edith Early, a well known and much loved teen girl and Mr. Hurt Holder, highly esteemed in his town and community, who comes from Roanoke, Alabama, were united in marriage. Mr. W. C. Holder, brother of the groom, officiated and those present rarely ever heard a more beautiful and expressive ceremony. Mr. Clinton Early was best man and the maid of honor, Miss Estelle Bicknell. Miss Grace Cornelius played the wedding March. The wedding occurred at the home of the bride's parents on Chestnut Street. Mr. and Mrs. Holder attended the graduating exercises of Mr. Holder's brother, the officiating minister, this week at Transylvania College, Lexington, Ky. They will return to Berea for a few days and then go to Homewood, Alabama, where they will make their home. The sincere and loving wishes of Berea friends attend them on their life journey.

DEDICATION SERVICE

The dedication service for the new church house at Safford Cane will take place next Sunday, June 11, at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. President Frost of Berea College will speak at 11. Dr. Thomson and others will speak in the afternoon.

Everybody invited. Come and bring a full basket.

Howard Hudson.

OLD SOLDIER DIES

Mr. Pleasant J. Pauley died at his home in Berea, in the early morning of Monday, the 5th inst. He had been ill for some months, but on the evening before his departure was unusually cheerful and was thought to be better. So lately as Memorial Sunday he was brought to the Memorial services in the College chapel. The funeral services took place on Tuesday, in the Berea cemetery and were conducted by Prof. LeVant Dodge. The interment was by members of Capt. Jas. West G. A. R. post, of which the departed has been for ten years a prominent member. Department Commander C. C. Degman of Springfield officiated.

Mr. Pauley was born in Whitley County, Kentucky, Aug. 13, 1845, and was nearly 66 years of age. He enlisted in 1862, as a member of Co. G, 4th Kentucky Infantry and served until the close of the war. He had attended the public schools and later spent some time in teaching. His vocation was that of a carpenter. Most of his mature life was spent in this vicinity, where he had a large circle of acquaintances and friends.

Y. M. C. A. STATEMENT

Financial Statement Y. M. C. A.
Cash Balance, May 1, $11.17
Receipts for May 64.17

Total 75.34
Expenses for May 344.39
Cash Balance, June 1, 1911 30.95

ONLY ONE FARM IN BEREAL

Containing twenty acres—ten in original forestry, ten in oats and grass, five cottages, four fronting Forest St.

Investments in well selected real estate in growing communities are sure and safe and best for small savings. Buy this property and you are buying an inheritance.

I have residential property, store property, and building lots for sale in Berea, ranging in price from $100 up, improved from $200 to $5,000. Also bluegrass farms in Madison and Garrard Co; mountain farms in Jackson and Rockcastle Co.

I can suit you for farms anywhere in prices from $1,000 to $20,000. One farm of 92 1/2 acres, real black walnut blue grassland in Garrard Co, 2 1/2 miles west of Paint Lick, Ky. This farm is nearly all in grass, well improved, and will suit any one wanting a splendid farm.

If you are planning to buy Real Estate, do not delay but write or call on me at once for particulars and terms.

The College Year

(Continued from first page)

This is a slow process. But of more significance is the fact that the abilities and interests of the man thus trained are confined within the narrow limits of his vocation. He touches life at only a few points. He is likely to become merely an automaton—a machine capable of doing one kind of work.

Success has come to most men thru training in school. This develops one's powers much more rapidly, puts him in connection with his work and makes him master of himself much earlier in life.

DEAN MATHENY

There is a strong demand in every department of life for more training. There is a growing movement in Kentucky today to allow no one to teach in the High Schools except a graduate from College, and no one to teach in the common or graded schools except graduates of high schools and Academies. This will possibly be the law in Kentucky within a few years.

The medical, the legal, and in fact, all the leading professions are demanding greater preparation for entrance to their courses than that afforded by the common schools.

The Academy in Berea holds a unique position in education. It prepares for many positions in life. A graduate from its four year course is prepared to enter Harvard, Yale or any College in the country in the freshman year without condition.

proud of her students.

Many will not be able to come because the distance is too great but letters will tell of their work in far away states.

The Normal Department is just closing the best year in all its history. In fact it is no longer a department but a SCHOOL having departments of its own, each one having several courses and each course taught by a specialist.

Thus there is the department of Pedagogy with the Dean at the head and Miss Howerrox as the principal teacher. This course is well graduated from the first year, the County Certificate Course, up through all the courses including that of Bachelor of Pedagogy. The Mathematics course has Prof. Coffey at its head and no more thorough work is done anywhere than that carried on by his vigorous efforts. Prof. Lewis of the Science Department is a lover of Nature and arouses the enthusiasm of his students to a degree that makes learning a delight. The other departments are Latin, History and Literature and are equally well taught and administered.

The special features of the Normal School are the Magnificent Library which is used constantly by the Normal students, the Literary Societies, the well equipped Hospital and College Physician, the Gymnasium, the Athletic Association, and the Model Schools for observation and Practice Teaching. Most of these are shared alike by all the Schools of the institution.

MRS. DINSMORE

The Normal School like the other schools of the College enjoys a generous patronage from a large scope of country including the mountain regions of Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia and North Carolina. Into hundreds of school districts and into thousands of homes are carried the blessings of inspiration and knowledge that have been derived from the class-rooms, the chapel services, the Sunday School and the other religious organizations, and only the Recording Angel himself can tell the vast work that is being wrought by Berea in the great field of God's Vineyard.

DEPARTMENT OF MUSIC

The instrumental department under the instruction of Miss Helen Wales, with Miss Mamie Johns as assistant, makes a splendid showing. The attendance has been large and the work most faithfully done. Miss Wales is to be congratulated on the triumphant graduating recital of her pupil, Miss Freda Roosche. Such artistry is the highest compliment that can be paid to a teacher.

No organization has made greater progress than our College Orchestra. It has been larger, played a higher class of music, and has played with much better finish than ever before. This year it played the "Messiah" without any outside help and rendered it fully as well as on previous years with help from outside. We can bespeak even better things for next year as we have already secured a splendid violin instructor, who will be on the grounds in September.

By careful management the Music Department will show no financial deficit, for the first time in history.

Other features, such as Harmony, Voice and Choral classes deserve special mention but space will not permit.

Altogether the College is to be congratulated in having such an adjunct under such capable leadership.

Some one has remarked that "every one should hear some sweet music, look upon some beautiful picture, smell some sweet flower and read some fine poem every day in order that his God given qualities may not become hardened." The high standard of musical attainment in Berea College is due primarily to the indefatigable labors of Prof. Rigby in vocal training together with the untiring, patient effort of Miss Helen Wales in instrumental work.

Somehow such music has power to link all perplexed meanings, in-

Red Cross Flour,
65 cents.

Every Sack Guaranteed

TATUM'S

J. P. BICKNELL

the world and to divide wisely the family income, to bring system into the management of the house and to outline the best way to care for the house. A great deal of time is spent in the study of foods, the kind of food and clothing to provide in order to keep the family happy and in good health. The girls are also taught in the home nursing classes how to care for the sick of the family.

And having learned how to clothe and feed the family, the girls are taught how to make the clothes and how to cook the food. A cottage simply furnished is provided where the girls live a part of the year and put in practice the lessons learned in

30 DAYS ONLY

Best 25c Coffee	15c	$20.00 suits	$12.00
Meal, per bu.	65c	$15.00 suits	$11.00
Patent Flour	60c	$12.00 suits	$10.00
Good Flour	50c	$10.00 suits	$8.00
Bacon	10c		A great reduction in shoes.

A great reduction in shoes.

Why Pay More?

R. J. ENGLE
Berea, Kentucky

Phone 60

to one perfect peace," and many a tired care worn student and worker has found rest and peace in listening to the public recitals of our musical department. The work this year has been in many instances beyond any preceding. We were obliged early in the season to secure additional practice rooms for both piano and organ study.

The rendition of the great oratorio, "The Messiah," by the Harmonia Society showed most painstaking effort on part of the leader as well as the hundred or more participants in the chorus. Beside this great annual recital the "Rose Maiden" now holds equal place in the hearts of Bereans. The difficult piano accompanying work on the part of Miss Wales deserves special mention, a notable feature of this latter rendition was the fact that all the Soloists were home talent.

Some advances in the Music Department are so marked as to deserve special mention.

Owing to the new system of music books installed and also to the use of better methods in teaching the sight reading ability of the Foundation Schools, has fully doubled. This we consider one of the most important improvements that could have been made.

TRAINING HOME MAKERS

No young woman's education is complete until she is trained in the "profession of home making," the greatest profession in the world. Every normal young woman expects some time to become a home-maker. Berea attempts in her Home Science course to train our young women for homemakers.

A large part of the money that comes into any home is expended on the home and the woman has largely the control of this expenditure. In the Home Science course an attempt is made to teach the young woman to divide wisely the family income, to bring system into the management of the house and to outline the best way to care for the house. A great deal of time is spent in the study of foods, the kind of food and clothing to provide in order to keep the family happy and in good health. The girls are also taught in the home nursing classes how to care for the sick of the family.

And having learned how to clothe and feed the family, the girls are taught how to make the clothes and how to cook the food. A cottage simply furnished is provided where the girls live a part of the year and put in practice the lessons learned in the President—waiting to hear his "well done"; waiting for his Gold-spoon in the active walks of life—his spiritual benediction.

Baccalaureate Sunday

(Continued from first page)

The sermon will be found elsewhere in this issue. It is sufficient to say here that it voiced the hope of every College worker and sought to inspire in the members of the class the ambition that every true teacher holds for his pupil. And one would think that this purpose was accomplished.

"Thy Kingdom Come" was the theme, and touchingly at the close of the address, the class standing, the President said "We have sought to lead you all into the Kingdom—and with bowed heads and closed eyes; with voices trembling with emotion they sealed their vows, one to the other and each to his or her Maker, by repeating the Lord's prayer.

The chief events of the afternoon were the preaching of Dr. Johnson at Narrow Gap, to which place he was accompanied by a number of College people, the sermon by Dr. Conrad in the VanWinkle Grove, the closing meeting of the student Christian societies, C. E., Y. W. C. A., and Y. M. C. A., during vesper hour, and the Governor's address in the Chapel in the evening.

Just before the time for the evening address the young ladies of the various departments were lined up along the walk of the President's house as an escort for the Governor. For some minutes, awaiting his appearance, they sang a number of familiar religious selections that are so popular in the student organizations. And, as in the forenoon, as the President and Governor proceeded between their ranks, the columns fell in and marched to the Chapel.

Extracts from the addresses of the three representatives of the societies, President Frost's address of welcome and Governor Wilson's speech will be found in other columns.

HARMONIA CONCERT

In spite of a steady down-pour of rain just immediately before and during the hour set for the Harmonia Concert, a fairly good crowd of music lovers was in the chapel, Monday evening, to hear Berea's many sweet singers.

The Society selected the beautiful cantata known as "The Rose Maiden" for its public program this year, and it was rendered in such a manner as to give most thorough satisfaction to every one present. There was no part of the rendition that would call for anything but words of praise, but the solo parts which were given by Mr. Rigby, tenor, Miss Julian Ambrose, soprano, and Mr. Jesse Murrell, baritone, were especially dashing.

The writer regrets that space will not permit a more detailed description of the concert. But to those who were present this is hardly necessary and the absent would have to hear the music anyway to enjoy it. It is to be hoped that it may be given again soon in Berea.

Prof. Rigby, Miss Wales, who so admirably played the accompaniment, and in fact the entire society are to be congratulated on the success of the evening.

Do You Want to Buy a Good Blue Grass Farm?

Do you want to buy a good building lot in Berea and do as others have done, build you a comfortable home, educate your children and make a living?

Or is it a common to medium farm you want at a moderate price for either cash or terms with easy payments, close around and convenient to Berea College?

It may be more convenient for you to buy some of the beautiful homes already built that I have for sale for my clients in Berea. Good enough for anybody.

I have plenty of Real Estate in Madison and adjoining Counties for sale at a price to suit any one, from $10 per acre to $150 per acre owing to the quality and location of the land. Think it over and write me what you want or call at my office and we will talk it over. REMEMBER WHAT I SAY, you will always get a square deal with Holiday. If interested

CALL UPON OR ADDRESS,

G. D. HOLLIDAY

Room 4, Berea Bank & Trust Building

BEREAL, KY.

T. A. ROBINSON
Optician and Jeweler
BEREA, KENTUCKY

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR WATCH

A WATCH is a delicate piece of machinery. It calls for less attention than most machinery, but must be cleaned and oiled occasionally to keep perfect time.

With proper care a Waltham Watch will keep perfect time for a lifetime. It will pay you well to let us clean your watch every 12 or 18 months.

Call upon or address G. D. Holliday.

Room 4, Berea Bank & Trust Building

BEREAL, KY.

We have anything you want and guarantee to save you 10 percent on your year's supply.
EVERY POUND from WELCH'S weighs 16 OUNCES.
LARGEST and most complete department store in Eastern Kentucky.
COME in and we will both make money.
HUNDRED cents to every dollar.
SAVE the Difference" means just what it says.

WELCH'S and "SAVE THE DIFFERENCE"

Governor Willson Addresses Students' Religious Societies

Speaks at the Chapel, Sunday Evening, of the "Noble, Brave, and Unselfish Service" of Berea to the State.

President Frost, Presiding, Felicitates the Governor on the Success of His Administration.

President Frost presided at the Sunday evening meeting of the religious societies of the College, and, in a very appropriate and effective manner, introduced the speakers of the evening, Mr. Thomas Terry representing the Christian Endeavor, Miss Taubee the Y. W. C. A., Mr. Davison the Y. M. C. A., and Governor Augustus E. Willson the chief speaker of the evening.

The representatives of the three organizations made interesting addresses, outlining the work of their respective societies for the year, each claiming marked progress and speaking of their plans for the future. Each of the societies has no peer among the Colleges in Kentucky both for the number of workers enlisted and the annual budgets and contributions to the support of the general activities represented by the parent organizations.

Mr. Terry announced that his society had contributed during the year $40 to religious work. Miss Taubee's society, the Y. W. C. A., had a budget of $77, and a membership of 125. In a recent issue we published the financial statement of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Davison in a splendid appeal for the organization showed that it would need $545 to carry on its work next year in comparison with $381 for this year. He paid an eloquent tribute to the efficiency of the General Secretary, Mr. Herbert L. Henry, who is now away from school owing to the sickness of his father.

President Frost introducing Governor Willson spoke as follows:

"Kentucky is a state which always stands up for itself, but we acknowledge among our selves that we have not made all the progress which we desire and do not rank among the sisterhood of states in all particulars as we would wish. We have not yet succeeded in diffusing education among the masses of our people nor in protecting ourselves against violence and lawlessness. Nor have we in later years been contributing to the councils of the nation many men whose public actions win the large gratitude of the people. We look back to Henry Clay, and we are proud of the birth of Lincoln, though Kentucky rejected him when alive. And we have in the supreme court the great jurist, Harlan.

"As one who has many connections outside my own commonwealth I am often called upon to defend Kentucky, and for the last few years I have been able to point to a governor who stood for honor, progress and the enforcement of law. Among all the men who have contributed to raise this commonwealth in the esteem of the world there is not one in recent years to be compared to the friend whom I introduce to you tonight. He has been a governor of the whole people and not a partisan. He has rallied the patriotism of our best citizens. While uncompromisingly devoted to the principles of the Republican party he has won the support of many of those resolute Confederate veterans who were rebels in war not only against the United States but against Kentucky herself.

"He has been a friend to Berea in the days of its obscurity and adversity. Governor Willson, we love you and wish to hear your words tonight."

The Governor's Address.

In response Gov. Willson said in part, "President Frost, young ladies and young gentlemen of the student body and friends and neighbors all, I never felt less able to satisfy my own ideal of what I would like to say nor more thankful than I do and am tonight. I am embarrassed by the kindness showered upon me and cheered by the kind references of President Frost. I feel that he has been too kind—he has been great-hearted and generous and you have all been. But I do not feel exalted and puffed up. I feel humble before this people and before God. And I do not wish to think a moment of myself and my work. I only wish to think of you and your work and I bring to you, President Frost, and to your workers and students the love and respect of the whole commonwealth of Kentucky, which are well-earned by the noble, brave and unselfish Christian service which you have rendered the state."

"And I wish to congratulate the young people of your Christian organizations for the splendid work they are doing and the record they have made in the state as are shown by the interesting reports just made by their representatives. These things have not been done for the sake of honor or distinction or riches. They have been done in the spirit and in the name of the Savior, in the spirit of all that is strongest and best in human life. And your reward is a reward that comes not to the richest man on earth. It is the reward that only follows the one who has done noble, earnest Christian work. God keeps books for everybody, but his account book is in the heart and in each life, in that book every good impulse, and generous and unselfish deed, are credited, and the credit can usually be read in the face. The very hands have a different touch, owing to this unselfish service.

"And now to the large body of citizens here I wish to say a word. We are all partners, real partners, and if we do not work together our work will be a failure. If our government and our ways of living do not give an equal chance for happiness and usefulness to all, an equal chance for winning the love and respect and friendship of others, our institutions will fail, but I do not believe that they are a failure. I realize that the census is against us, that we in Kentucky stand forty-third in the number of illiterates. That is, that there are forty-two states in the Union that have fewer illiterates per thousand than we, and I realize that the negroes help us out—that we would not make so good a showing if it were not for the standard of education among our colored population. But this condition is not due to the wholly bad character of our people. It is due in part to the fact that many of our best citizens have moved away to build up the great Northwest, so large a number that if they were all in Kentucky now our state would have more than five million inhabitants, but their going away has been due chiefly to our intolerance—religious intolerance, impatience intolerance, and chiefly political intolerance. But the main cause of our backward condition, our illiteracy, and in the face of the fact that we expend upon our public schools from the state treasury a larger per capita than any other state in the Union, is the failure of people in general in selecting their representatives and in properly supervising the expenditure of the more than half of our revenues that goes to school purposes. The usefulness of this great fund will be largely thwarted by setting up as a standard of election and appointment to the office of trustee and teacher and other officials who have to do with the schools, kinship and friendship instead of ability and faithfulness to the appeal of duty. These are the enemies of Kentucky, the enemies of every child in Kentucky—our failure to select proper representatives to our legislative body and the substitution of kinship, friendship and favoritism as standards for office-holding instead of ability. And so greatly have we failed in these respects that the state is becoming disturbed and there are many who have almost lost faith in representative government, who say that our system is a failure and have begun to run after the new fangled ideas of Initiative and Referendum and Recall. To get good results from these revolutionary measures would require greater faithfulness and a higher standard of citizenship than under the present regime. And if we could only realize the judgment and patriotism that would be demanded under these proposed new laws, we would not need them, for our present government can only be called a failure owing to the lack of these qualities. If every community would select its best citizen to represent it in the legislature we would no longer hear our general assembly spoken of with contempt."

At the conclusion of the Governor's address the entire audience was asked to pass out by the platform and shake his hand.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Splendid Record for the Year

Numerically the student activities of Berea College are like the demons in the possessed Gadarene. Their name is Legion. The space allowed for this article renders possible little more than a bare tabulation of them.

While no inter-collegiate contests took place there has been much athletic activity through the year. Department foot ball games were hard fought. Baseball had its share of patronage and the games between the Academy, Town and Faculty teams proved the athletic efficiency of the Faculty to be deserving of high student regard. The local field day was the biggest athletic event of the year. A fine day, and enthusiastic spectators inspired the contestants to break three State records, the pole vault, the hammer throw and the shot put.

All of the literary societies of the institution have been very much alive this year. Friday evening, all studies and ordinary occupations are banished and the societies spend their time in mutual improvement and fellowship. The two great debates were splendidly fought and fairly won. Phi Delta was the victor in the struggle between the senior societies, and Union won the junior society debate. The public exhibit of Pi Epsilon Phi, and Utile Dulce—the girls' societies—were very excellent and justified the high expectations of their friends.

Few schools can point to as healthy and vigorous religious activity among their students as can Berea. The Christian Endeavor, the Young Women's Christian Association, and the Young Men's Christian Association have had a deep and abiding influence on the religious atmosphere of the school.

The two "Y"s" have conducted Mission study classes, Bible classes and prayer meetings throughout the year. The Y. M. C. A. has had more men in voluntary Bible study than have all the other institutions in Kentucky combined. Its membership this year has exceeded the water mark of the highest previous flood and the same is true of its finances.

The State Y. M. C. A. Convention saw Berea's delegation by all odds the largest and liveliest of any in the state, and the prospects of the presence of a dozen Berea delegates at the Asheville Summer Y. M. C. A. conference in North Carolina are rosy.

In conclusion, if the superintendent of the sulphurous温泉 can find work for idle hands only, he had better pass up Berea College, for most of her students are too busy with other things to afford him any encouragement.

Pres. Frost's Sermon to Graduates

(continued from first page)

We are in the Kingdom of God already as truly as though we sat under the trees of Paradise. It is right for us to sing the hilarious hymn "I am doing well, I am glad to tell, I'm living in Canaan now."

In the third place the Kingdom is a kingdom of ideas. All that Jesus brought into the world was a few fruitful ideas. He built them on the foundations of the prophets. He came not to destroy what had gone before but to fulfill. He taught men that the great commandment in the law was the commandment of love. He taught us that God marks the sparrow's fall. He taught us that idleness is in hungering and thirsting for righteousness. He taught us that virtue is not in outward respectability but in that purity of heart which does not desire evil. And these ideas have been ever since slowly working for the transformation of the world.

In the fourth place the Kingdom of God is a kingdom of hearts. Worldly kingdoms rest upon fear or the hope of reward. No one comes into God's Kingdom except by the choice of his heart. When a man's heart is like God's heart, devoted, loving, sympathetic with all God's creatures, so is he in the Kingdom.

In the fifth place the Kingdom of God is a kingdom of the humble. Christ said, "Ye know how in this world those who have authority exercise lordship but it shall not be so among you, but he that would be greatest let him be servant of all." So his kingdom began with fishermen and carpenters and shepherds and so it has a place for the service at every loving heart. Not all are called to preach the gospel, but all are called to hear witness of the gospel and the witness of a farmer and a stable boy may be as effective as that of the preacher. If you are called to be a farmer, a milliner, a doctor, or whatever you are called to be, your place is to be a head-quarter for the work of the Kingdom.

in the sixth place the Kingdom of God is a kingdom of small beginnings. It is called "unto the immature seed which is the least of all seeds but when it is grown up it becomes a great tree and the fowls of the air lodge in the branches of it." Third was not in a hurry for immediate results. He left eleven apostles as a result of three years teaching, and it has been so with his followers. A student's room at Oxford was the birthplace of the great Methodist revival. The city jail in Bedford was the birthplace of Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress. A log-stick in the field at Williamsburg, Massachusetts, was the shelter of the first prayer meeting where American students gave themselves to the work of foreign missions. But all these movements have been going on like the soul of John Brown, marching forward, conquering and to conquer.

And in the seventh place the Kingdom of God is a kingdom of infinite scope. Christ came first to the lost sheep of the Kingdom of Israel. Very soon he passed over the line to the rivals and enemies of the Jews, the despised Samaritans, and it was they who first gave him his great title, "Savior of the world." He never boasted of the success of his kingdom but just before his death, when a woman anointed him with the contents of an alabaster box, he said, calmly, incidentally, unconsciously almost, "This woman's deed shall be told of her wherever my gospel is preached to the ends of the earth." He was to die the next day and leave only a handful of frightened followers, but he was convinced that his gospel was to be preached to the ends of the earth.

Many of us have seen mighty transformations in men and women and in the world we may all believe and comfort ourselves in the thought that this Kingdom is going forward in future years more gloriously than in the past.

PLACES WORTH VISITING

(continued from first page)

their baskets and baggage and receive a check for the same at the small schoolbuilding near the tabernacle.

Other places you may want to visit are:

ARCHITECTURAL Drawing Room in charge of Mr. Lindsey, Industrial Building.

CARPENTRY Room, in charge of Mr. Burgess, Woodwork Building.

LAUNDRY, in charge of Miss Merrow, Industrial Building.

SEWING AND COOKING school in charge of Miss Speer, Industrial Building.

BOTANICAL Laboratory and Cabinet, in charge of Prof. Lewis, Industrial Building.

LANTERN ROOM in charge of Prof. Rumford, Science Hall.

COMMERCIAL Room, in charge of Mr. Lyengood, Lincoln Hall.

And don't forget to visit THE CITIZEN office. See the best press in Eastern Kentucky at work. See the folding machine, that will fold a thousand papers an hour. See the wonderful linotype that sets up the matter printed in the paper. Also pay your subscription, if it happens to be behind, but come anyhow.

BEREA'S NEW INDUSTRY

Teaches to Make Your Own Tile

At a cost of $35 for machine and mold and $15 for a good screen every tanner can make his own tile on rainy days at very little expense. One sack of cement will make seventy tile. The cement is mixed with sand which has been thoroughly dried, four sacks of sand being used with one of cement. This machine which costs $35 will make 3 inch, 4 inch, 5 or 6 inch tile. Berea College has one of these and has made a good number of them this spring. We invite farmers and others who are interested in this line of work to examine this tile while here at Commencement. This little machine solves one of the difficult problems which meets the farmer who is far from the railroad. It is impossible for him to buy tile shipped on the railroad since the cost of handling would be great and the breakage would also be exceedingly heavy. Any farmer can purchase one of these machines, and have his cement shipped to him. Generally he will be able to get sand nearby in his vicinity so that during the winter or rainy days he can make his own tile and redeem many of the wet and sour fields on his farm and make them the most productive lands by proper draining.

We feel sure that it will pay many of the farmers in the eastern part of the state to invest in such an outfit. Be sure and examine the machine and the tile which the College has on hand. Any inquiries in regard to the work will be answered by S. L. Clark who will be found at the College barn during Commencement Day.

Not a Fire Sale

But I sell and install Heating, Lighting and Pneumatic Water Systems. I put on metal roofs to protect your home against rain, lightning and fire. I also put up eaves troughs and rain water filters to supply healthy water. Any kind of sheet metal work.

If you are in the market for anything of this kind cut out this ad and mail same to me.

MR. LENGFELLNER: I am in the market for.....

Please call on me and give me your best figures.

Name.....

Henry Lengfellner, Berea, Ky.

PHONE 181.

SERIAL STORY

The Courage of Captain Plum

By JAMES
OLIVER
CURWOOD

Illustrations by Eugene C. Lerner

Copyright 1911 by Houghton Mifflin Co.

SYNOPSIS.

Capt. Nathaniel Plum of the sleep, Typhoon, lands secretly on Beaver Island, stronghold of the Mormons. Obadiah Price, Mormon councilor, confronts him, tells him he is expected, and bargains for the amputation of his right arm. He makes up a so-called oasis to deliver a package to Franklin Pierce, president of the United States. Near Price's cabin Nat sees the frightened face of a young woman, Marion, who has been wounded during a raid in the darkness, leaving an odor of blood. It develops that Nat's visit in the island to demand the execution of the king, Strang, for the looting of his shop by Mormons, Price attacking Nat in the king's place, and through a window he sees the lady of the place, who Price is the king's seventh wife. Calling at the king's office, Nat is warned by a young woman that his life is in danger, and professes indignation when he hears Nat's grievance and promises to punish the guilty. Nat rescues Neil, who is being publicly whipped, and the king orders the execution. After a ride to town, Nat begs him to let him go, telling him that Marion, the girl of the place, is Neil's sister. The two men plan to escape on Nat's ship and take Marion and Winthamme to safety. Arthur Croche, an sweetheart of Neil, Nat discovers that the ship is gone. Marion tells him that his ship has been seized by the Mormons. She begs him to let her go, telling him that nothing can save her from them. When she is doomed to marry, Plum finds Price racing mad. Hearing, he tells Nat that Strang is determined that armed men are to be sent to the island. Nat learns that Marion has been promised to the castle by Strang. Nat kills Arthur Croche, and after a desperate fight with the king, leaves him for dead. The avenging crowd follows him to the pier. James Neil and Nat take a part in the battle and the latter is wounded. Strang, whom Nat thought he had killed, orders him thrown into dungeon. He finds Marion, fellow prisoner. They overrule the Mormon jury deciding their fate. A brutal jailer brings the prisoners word of Winthamme and Marion bound and gagged; the two men are taken out to sea in a boat to be cast adrift to suffer "natural death" on a wild part of the coast. Just as they had given up hope the men are rescued by Marion and Winthamme. Nat falls ill and when he recovers Marion is gone. He returns to Beaver Island to find Marion.

(CHAPTER XII.—Continued.)

"I have come back for you!" he breathed.

She shuddered against his breast, and he raised her face between his two hands and kissed her until she drew away from him, crying softly.

"You must wait—you must wait!"

He saw now in her face an agony that appalled him. He would have gone to her again, but there came loud voices from the forest, and recovering his pistol he sprang to the door. Half a hundred paces away were Obadiah and the king's sheriffs. They had stopped and the councilor was expositing excitedly with the men, evidently trying to keep them from the cabin. Suddenly one of the three broke past him and ran swiftly toward the open door, and with a shriek of warning to Nathaniel the old councilor drew a pistol and fired point blank in the sheriff's back, in another instant the two men behind had fired and Obadiah fell forward upon his face.

With a yell of rage Nathaniel leaped from the door. He heard Marion cry out his name, but his fighting blood was stirred and he did not stop. Obadiah had given up his life for him, for Marion, and he was mad with a desire to wreak vengeance upon the murderers. The first man lay where he had fallen, with Obadiah's bullet through his back. The other two fired again as Nathaniel rushed down upon them. He heard the zip of one of the balls, which came so close that it stung his cheek.

"Take that!" he cried.

He fired, still running—once, twice three times and one of the two men crumpled down as though a powerful blow had broken his legs under him. The other two turned into the path and run. Nathaniel caught a glimpse of a frightened, boyish face, and something of mercy prompted him to hold the shot he was about to send through his lungs.

"Stop!" he shouted. "Stop!"

He aimed at the fugitive's legs and fired.

"Stop!"

The boyish sheriff was lengthening the distance between them and Nathaniel hasted to make sure of his last ball. He was about to shoot when there came a sharp command from down the path and a file of men burst into view, running at double-quick. He saw the flash of a sword, the gleam of brass buttons, the blue glare of the setting sun on leveled carbines, and he stopped, shoulder to shoulder with the man he had been pursuing. For a moment he stared at the man with the naked saber approaching. Then he sprang toward him with a joyful cry of recognition.

"Liberty! Lieutenant Sheriff! Don't you know me?"

The lieutenant had dropped the pistol on his saber. He advanced a step, his face filled with astonishment.

"Plum!" he cried incredulously. "Is it you?"

For the moment Nathaniel could only wring the other's hand. He tried to speak but his breath choked him.

"I told you in Chileno that I was going to blow up this damned island—if you wouldn't do it for me—" he gasped at last. "I've had—a hell of a time."

"You look fit!" laughed the lieutenant. "We got our orders the second day after you left to 'Arrest Strang, and break up the Mormon kingdom!' We've got Strang aboard the Michigan. But he's dead."

"Dead?"

"He was shot in the back by one of his own men as we were bringing him up the gangway. The fellow who killed him has given himself up, and says that he did it because Strang had him publicly whipped day before yesterday. I'm up here hunting for a man named Obadiah Price. Do you know?"

"What do you want with Obadiah Price?"

"The president of the United States wants him. That's all I know. Where is he?"

"Back there—dead or very badly wounded! We've just had a fight with the king's men."

The lieutenant broke in with a sharp command to his men.

"Quick, lead us to him, Captain Plum! If he's not dead—"

He started off at a half run beside Nathaniel.

"Lord, it's a pretty mess if he is!" he added breathlessly. Without pausing he called back over his shoulder: "Regan, fall out and return to the ship. Tell the captain that Obadiah Price is badly wounded and that we want the surgeon on the run."

A turn in the path brought them to the opening where the fight had occurred. Marion was on her knees beside the old councilor.

Nathaniel hurried ahead of the lieutenant and his men. The girl glanced up at him and his heart filled with dread at the terror in her eyes.

"Is he dead?"

"No—but—" Her voice trembled with tears.

Nathaniel did not let her finish. Gently he raised her to her feet as the lieutenant came up.

"You must go to the cabin, sweet heart," he whispered.

Even in this moment of excitement and death his great love drove all else from his eyes, and the blood surged

"I have come back for you!"

into Marion's pale cheeks as she tremblingly gave her hand. He led her to the door and held her for a moment in his arms.

"Strang is dead," he said softly. In a few words he told her what had happened and turned back to the door, leaving her speechless.

"If he is dying—you will tell me—" she called after him.

"Yes, yes, I will tell you."

He ran back into the opening.

The lieutenant had doubled his coat under Obadiah's head and his face was pale as he looked up at Nathaniel. The latter saw in his eyes what his lips kept silent. The officer held something in his hand. It was the mysterious package which Captain Plum had taken his oath to deliver to the president of the United States.

"I don't dare move until the surgeon comes," said the lieutenant. "He wants to speak to you. I believe, if he has anything to say you had better hear it now."

Obadiah's eyes opened as Nathaniel knelt beside him and from between his thin lips there came faintly the old, gurgling chuckle.

"Not!" he breathed. His thin hand sought his companion's and clung to it tightly. "We have won. The vengeance of God has come!"

In these last moments all madness had left the eyes of Obadiah Price.

"I want to tell you—" he whispered, and Nathaniel bent low. "I have given him the package. It is evidence I have gathered—all these years—to destroy the Mormon kingdom."

For a few moments he seemed struggling to command all his strength.

"A good many years ago," he said, as if speaking to himself, "I loved a girl—like Marion, and she loved me—as Marion loves you. Her people were Mormons, and they went to Kirtland—and I followed them. We planned to escape and go east, for my Jesus was good and beautiful, and hated the Mormons as I hated them. But they caught us and—thought—they killed me."

The old man's lips twitched and a convulsive shudder shook his body.

"When everything came back to me I was older—much older," he went on. "My hair was white. I was like an old man. My people had found me and they told me that I had been mad for three years. Not—mad—mad—mad—not a great surgeon had operated on my head, where they struck me—and brought me back to reason. Nat—Nat—" he strayed to reason. Nat—Nat—" he strayed to reason.

"Plum!" he cried incredulously. "Is it you?"

I was like you then, Nat! I was back to fight for my Jean. She was gone. Nobody knew me, for I was an old man. I hunted from settlement to settlement. In my madness I became a Mormon, for vengeance—in hope of finding her. I was rich, and I became powerful. I was made an elder because of my gold. Then I found—"

A moan trembled on the old man's lips.

"—they had forced her to marry—the son of a Mormon—"

He stopped, and for a moment his eyes seemed filling with the glazed shadows of death. He roused himself almost fiercely.

"But he loved my Jean, Nat—he loved her as I loved her—and he was a good man!" he whispered shrilly. "Quick—quick—I tell you—they had tried to escape from Missouri and the Danites killed him—and Joseph Smith wanted Jean and at the last moment she killed herself to save her honor—as—Marion—was going—to do, and she left two children—"

He coughed and blood flecked his lips.

"She left—Marion and Nell!"

He sank back, ashen white and still, and with a cry Nathaniel turned to the lieutenant. The officer ran for ward with a flask in his hand.

"Give him this!"

The touch of liquor to Obadiah's lips revived him. He whispered weakly:

"The children, Nat—I tried to find them—and years after—I did—Nauvoo. The man and woman who had killed the father in their own house had taken them and were raising them as their own. I went mad! Vengeance—vengeance—I lived for it year after year. I wanted the children—but if I took them all would be lost. I followed them, watched them, loved them—and they loved me. I would wait—until my vengeance would fill like the hand of God, and then I would free them, and tell them how beautiful their mother was. When Joseph Smith was killed and the split came the old folks followed Strang—and I—I, too—"

He rested a moment, breathing heavily.

"I brought my Jean with me and buried her up there on the hill—the middle grave, Nat, the middle grave—Marion's mother."

Nathaniel pressed the liquor to the old man's lips again.

"My vengeance was at hand—I was almost ready—when Strang learned a part of the secret," he continued with an effort. "He found the old people were murderers. When Marion would not become his wife he told her what they had done. He threatened them with death unless Marion became his wife. His sheriffs watched them night and day. He named the hour of their doom—unless Marion yielded to him. And to save them, her supposed parents—to keep the terrible knowledge of their crime from Neil—Marion was—going—to sacrifice herself—when—"

Again he stopped. His breath was coming more faintly.

"I understand," whispered Nathaniel.

Obadiah's dimming eyes gazed at him steadily.

"I thought my vengeance would come—in time—to save her, Nat. But it failed. I knew of one other way and when all seemed lost—I took it. I killed the old people—the murderers of her father—of my Jean! I knew that would destroy Strang's power—"

In a sudden spasm of strength he lifted his head. His voice came in a hoarse, excited whisper.

"You won't tell Marion—you won't tell Marion that I killed them—"

"No—never."

Obadiah fell back with a relieved sigh. After a moment he added,

"In a chest in the cabin there is a letter for Marion. It tells her about her mother—and the gold there—is for her—and Neil—"

His eyes closed. A shudder passed through his form.

"Marion—" he breathed. "Marion!" Nathaniel rose to his feet and ran to the cabin door.

"Marion!" he called.

Blinding tears shut out the vision of the girl from his eyes. He pointed, looking from her, and she, knowing what he meant, sped past him to the old councilor.

He should keep ourselves clear of all practical inconsistencies. Inconsistency is impudent. We should avoid all self display. Many people who profess to be Christians seem to think it is their first business to tell people of it. If you are a Christian no one knows it better than your nearest neighbor. It is not your prerogative to glorify yourself, but God. The most attractive style in writing is that simple style which leads one to think of the subject matter rather than the style of the author.

Be the most beautiful and most effective Christian life is that one which lends people to think not so much of the person, but of the Christ that is being lived.

The Spirit of Meekness.

You should make a special point of asking God every morning to give you, before all else, that true spirit of meekness which he would have his children possess. You must also make a firm resolution to practice yourself in this virtue, especially in your intercourse with those persons to whom you chiefly owe it. You must make it your main object to conquer yourself in this matter; call it to mind a hundred times during the day, commanding your efforts to God. It seems to me that no more than this is needed in order to subject your soul entirely to his will, and then you will become more gentle day by day, trusting wholly in his goodness. You will be very happy, my dearest child, if you can do this, for God will dwell in your heart; and where he reigns all is peace. But if you should fail and commit some of your old faults, do not be disheartened, but rise up and go again, as though you had not fallen. —Francis de Sales.

As to the Frank.

In a discussion of the franking privilege Senator Money, the leader of the minority, remarked: "The frank is a great privilege." He went on to explain, but what he said was lost in the remark of a gallery occupant who got in with the statement that "the frank is to help to get men back to congress." When one observes the quantities of documents being sent out under frank from the national capital he is inclined to agree with the man who made that statement.

St. Louis Star.

Christians as Shining Lights

By REV. H. M. TIMMONS

Pastor Washington Av. Methodist Church, Boston, Mass.

TEXT: Ye are the light of the world—Matthew 5, 16.

One of the greatest utterances of any age is the sermon on the mount

it was spoken to the disciples. There is nothing in it directly addressed to the unenlightened. Christ is the light of the world. We understand that, yet

He says, "Ye are the light of the world." There is really no discrepancy here for we say the lamp lights the room yet in reality it is the oil in the lamp that gives the light. There is in us no light by reason of our being but, still we are the light of the world. Christ is the light and we re ject His light. We shine insofar as we act so we can shine through us.

There are degrees in Christianity. One light shines more brightly than another,

according to the amount of oil and general condition of the lamp. One

Christian shines more

East Kentucky Correspondence News You Get Nowhere Else

No correspondence published unless signed in full by the writer. The name is not for publication, but as an evidence of good faith." Write plainly.

JACKSON COUNTY

KERRY KNOR

Kerby Kaob, June 4.—Crops are doing poorly on account of dry weather.—Sunday school is progressing nicely here, every Sunday at 10 a.m.—John and Charlie Hoskins of Middletown, Ohio, are visiting friends and relatives here. They will stay out until after the commencement.—Frank Jones of Red Lick visited his sister, Mrs. Walter Williams, Saturday night.—There will be singing at Oak Grove on Friday night before the fourth Sunday and also preaching, Sunday night.—Mrs. Will Flanery and children who have been visiting her father, D. M. Click, for some time, will visit at Berea for a few weeks.—Walter Click who has been in Indianapolis for a few weeks writes back that he likes the place and is much satisfied.—Grandma Gayhart who has been sick all summer is improving some.—Mrs. Lucy Baker and children and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Williams of Round Hill visited their parents from Sunday till Wednesday.

TYNER

Tyner, June 2.—The continued drought is doing considerable damage to growing crops, especially oats and young grass.—Mr. and Mrs. George Setzer have returned to their home in Hamilton, Ohio.—Died, May 18th, Mrs. Martha Duigan of catarrh of the lungs. She leaves a husband, several children and a host of friends to mourn her loss. Her remains were laid to rest in a beautiful pine grove on her husband's farm.—Roy Moore has gone to Viva to bring his sister Fay home. She has been staying with her cousin, Mrs. Simpson for the past four months.—Mrs. G. W. Moore is sick.—G. W. Moore, an old veteran soldier has received a three dollar increase on his war claim.—W. M. Creech is confined to his room with diseased eyes.—Harvey Moore killed a blue crane that was five feet and four inches high and six feet and six inches from tip to tip.—The Rev. Jim Anderson of Conklin filled his regular appointment at Flat Lick, Saturday and Sunday.—W. K. Jones bought a mule from his brother, Fred, for $200.—W. R. Reynolds lost a fine mule colt a few days ago.—Most everybody in this vicinity is up with the times, having their corn out of the first weeds.

ROCKCASTLE COUNTY

WILDLIE

Wildie, June 5.—Mr. and Mrs. Lee Coffey of Brodhead visited Mr. and Mrs. A. Reynolds, Sunday.—Mrs. H. S. Coffey is sick.—Mr. and Mrs. Sam Coffey visited friends at Conway, Saturday and Sunday.—Mrs. Richard Brannaman was in Richmond last week.—Miss Ella Nash has returned to her home at Berea after an extended visit with friends here.—Ely Coffey is very sick.—Mrs. Garrett McGuire died at her home, May 29th, of that dreadful disease, consumption. She leaves a husband, one brother and a host of friends to mourn her loss.—Mrs. W. A. Coffey who has been sick for some time is slowly improving.—Marie Phillips who is in school at Berea was with home folks, Saturday and Sunday.—Mrs. L. G. Reynolds and daughter, Ethel, are in Richmond this week.

CLIMAX

Climax, June 2.—Geo. Thacker has nearly completed his new dwelling.—Hildie Moore and F. M. Sexton went to Livingston, fishing, last Tuesday, returning Wednesday with good results.—A large rattlesnake appeared at the door of D. G. Rector's and gave Mrs. Susie and little Cecil quite a fright, but got away before help could arrive.—Otto Fenal and G. T. Rector from Kirksville visited Isaac Rector last Wednesday and Thursday.—Lack of rain is doing some damage to crops.—Next Sunday is the regular church meeting day at the Baptist church at old Brush Creek.

GARRARD COUNTY

PAINT LICK

Paint Lick, June 4.—Mrs. Jane Ward died at her home, May 23rd, of consumption. She leaves a husband, father, two sisters and two brothers besides a host of friends to mourn her loss.—Mr. and Mrs. John Smith were the guests of H. L. Stowe and family last Saturday night.—Dry weather has damaged grass and small grain badly.—Chester Blanton was the guest of his sister, Mrs. Mary Gabbard, last Saturday night.—Tobacco beds have burned up here and people are planting tobacco ground in corn.—G. E. Brockman and family were visitors at G. B. Gabbard's last Sunday.—Frank Crotcher of Rockcastle visited relatives at this place last Sunday.—Willie Gabbard and family, Wesley VanWinkle and family, Mr. Towner and family all took dinner at the Tar Spring last Sunday and had a delightful time.—

Mr. and Mrs. Braudrick of Indiana have been the guests of their grandfather, Charlie Baker, the past week.

The College Year

(Continued from fifth page.)

the class room. A great many girls have been in these classes this year, a great many more ought to have been in them. No girl should leave school without taking advantage of this opportunity. Every teacher needs the course, for the time is soon coming when these subjects will be taught in all of our public schools.

Realizing that "the mission of the ideal woman is to make the whole world more home-like," Berea is more and more teaching the subject of practical usefulness in the home.

No day will ever be remembered with greater pleasure by any girl than the day when she entered the Model Cottage with Miss Merrow.

SUMMER SCHOOL

For several years there has been a growing demand for study in Berea during the summer vacation. The College, however, has never seen fit to inaugurate a summer school. This year the demand has greatly increased and the work will be undertaken under the auspices of the College. Courses will be offered in Latin, German, Mathematics, English and History.

The courses offer advantages for Academic study to two classes of people:

First, to those who can be in school only during the winter and spring terms. This arrangement will

Paints for the Farmer

We are very frank to admit that scientific agriculture has as yet, found no way to control the weather.

Many of our more interesting experiments

PROF. SEALE

enable them to complete a part of the year's work which may be continued after the Christmas holidays.

Second, to those who are in any way irregular in their course. This is practically the only way to make up deficiencies and thus meet the College, Academy and Normal requirements for regularity in courses. Vacant is the school's greatest source of loss.

For many years the business world has declared that schools do not utilize their equipment to the best advantage and that the student does not use his time in the most profitable way. There is too much waste. We have 36 weeks of school and 16 weeks vacation—almost one-third of our time spent in vacation. While the business man's vacation is 4 weeks at most.

This long vacation allows the student to lose connection with and interest in education and we are just waking up to the fact that if we would hold our students we must conduct our schools for a longer term. The cry over the country is for 44 or 48 weeks of school.

In the future this demand will be met by Berea.

Blessings Accumulating

The paramount thought with all of the College workers is now, as ever, the "greater comfort and happiness" of the boys and girls who share the family privileges of the school. A that on the part of the older pupils and workers instinctively calls for the song "Count your many blessings." Probably the greatest single blessing in all our work where cleanliness forms such an important part of our instruction is our water supply, thanks to our good friend Dr. Persons. A break in the water main last year for four hours and the inconvenience occasioned thereby quickened our appreciation of this perennial blessing.

The Boarding Hall occupies much of our thought, and energy. Visitors and students alike are amazed at the variety and general good quality of food supplied for the insignificant price of 6 cents per meal. This fact is made possible only thru most careful buying, and subsequent good management on the part of our worthy matron. Steam tables are now being placed at the entrance to dining rooms so that food may be served hot, and thus kept more palatable. Much comfort and good cheer have come to us in the Boarding Hall with the introduction of steam heat and electric light. By the removal of all basement furnaces we have gained space for two large new airy dining rooms with a capacity of 320. The capacity of the kitchen has been nearly doubled, and a large cold storage room with a temperature of 32 degrees will shortly be installed under the South Annex. Here several carcasses of beef and barrels of fish, butter, etc., may be stored, and, in a room of slightly higher temperature, barrels of vegetables and fruits which will be ordered in quantity lots from the south. Thus the menu may be greatly varied at no greater cost to the institution. A commodious green house is being planned for the fuller development of our botany and agricultural classes.

From this we hope to supply each dining table with some fresh growing plant thus encouraging gentle rivalry in table decoration. Our dormitories have received the greatest attention during the past two years, Parsons Hall having been built and Howard Hall completely overhauled.

Great attention has been given to beautifying the grounds—the sword in front of the Library serves as a daily object lesson of possibilities.

Many young trees have been planted, old hickory hedges have been uprooted and totterlag weather beaten fence have been whitewashed. The artistic hedges now planted will soon give to Ladies Hall that beautiful feminine seclusion which we have all so greatly desired. In this cloister garden flowers and shrubbery will be planted in profusion.

Six new tennis courts and as many croquet grounds with greatly increased gymnasium equipment are sources of daily delight to our students, both girls and boys.

Boone Tavern with her liberates and comfortable service is giving inestimable comfort to parents of students, and visiting friends.

Paints for the Farmer

We are very frank to admit that scientific agriculture has as yet, found no way to control the weather.

Many of our more interesting experiments

F. O. CLARK

on the College farm and gardens have been greatly injured by the dry weather. The experiment with glasses on the public square, which has been carried on under the direction of the U. S. Department of Agriculture is the school's greatest source of loss.

For many years the business world has declared that schools do not utilize their equipment to the best advantage and that the student does not use his time in the most profitable way. There is too much waste. We have 36 weeks of school and 16 weeks vacation—almost one-third of our time spent in vacation. While the business man's vacation is 4 weeks at most.

This long vacation allows the student to lose connection with and

interest in education and we are just

waking up to the fact that if we

would hold our students we must

conduct our schools for a longer term.

The cry over the country is for 44

or 48 weeks of school.

This long vacation allows the student to lose connection with and

interest in education and we are just

waking up to the fact that if we

would hold our students we must

conduct our schools for a longer term.

The cry over the country is for 44

or 48 weeks of school.

This long vacation allows the student to lose connection with and

interest in education and we are just

waking up to the fact that if we

would hold our students we must

conduct our schools for a longer term.

The cry over the country is for 44

or 48 weeks of school.

This long vacation allows the student to lose connection with and

interest in education and we are just

waking up to the fact that if we

would hold our students we must

conduct our schools for a longer term.

The cry over the country is for 44

or 48 weeks of school.

This long vacation allows the student to lose connection with and

interest in education and we are just

waking up to the fact that if we

would hold our students we must

conduct our schools for a longer term.

The cry over the country is for 44

or 48 weeks of school.

This long vacation allows the student to lose connection with and

interest in education and we are just

waking up to the fact that if we

would hold our students we must

conduct our schools for a longer term.

The cry over the country is for 44

or 48 weeks of school.

This long vacation allows the student to lose connection with and

interest in education and we are just

waking up to the fact that if we

would hold our students we must

conduct our schools for a longer term.

The cry over the country is for 44

or 48 weeks of school.

This long vacation allows the student to lose connection with and

interest in education and we are just

waking up to the fact that if we

would hold our students we must

conduct our schools for a longer term.

The cry over the country is for 44

or 48 weeks of school.

This long vacation allows the student to lose connection with and

interest in education and we are just

waking up to the fact that if we

would hold our students we must

conduct our schools for a longer term.

The cry over the country is for 44

or 48